

Character Card

Lord Edmard Squeek

Small mouse, big personality . . .

Lord Edmard of the House of Squeek hails from far across the Very Big Sea, where he once lived a life of luxury in Squeek House, overlooking the Bay of Rats. That is, until his wicked Uncle Bloggard usurped the throne and forced Edmard to flee for his life.

Since then, the young lord has made his living as a bodyguard, a bailiff and a soldier of fortune. He is used to the simple life, but woe betide anyone who forgets to call him 'your lordship'.

